

Tubanito

Produces authentic fundamental sounds like the quinto, conga, and REMO's TUBANO. Fits anywhere and is designed to be played on a table, or mounted on a snare stand. Perfect as an add-on instrument to a drumset or percussion set-up in tight spaces. The Tubanito is 3.75 tall with a 10 drumhead diameter and an over all drum shell diameter of 12, so it won't take up much room yet gives a big sound. The Tubanito is designed to be played on a table top, on lap, straddled between the knees like bongo drums, or mounted on a standard snare stand. Remo's Tubanito is an excellent add-on instrument for drum-set or percussion set-ups in tight spaces, as well as drum circle activities, percussion lessons and can easily be muted for late night practice. It is ideal for educational World Music programs where drum substitutions are needed.
